the following from the Courrier des Etats Unis: The Holy Father, who has not at his command all the treasuries of Christendom to fill, as he desires, the hands of the supplicant who come to him, at least knows how to bestow his alms in the right place. One day one of those characters, whom the artist at Rome call Romanaches, presented himself to Pius IX. declaring that he was overwhelmed with misfortunes, his wife was dving and his children without bread. The Pope looked at him and replied, that honest misery would not wear so red a nose or so shining a the treaty of November of that year. Mrs. A. was face, and that some trick was perhaps lurking under it. But to the doubts of his Holiness, the fellow replied that his grandfather was paralytic and that the grandfather of his wife was stone blind. With all his family ill upon his hands, his case was truly pitiful. A hundred piasters, he said, would be enough to help him out of the difficulty. The Pope borrowed the money of his treasurer, and gave it to him.

But a doubt took possession of the donor. "Have I bestowed my charity to good purpose !" He wished to know what to think of it. He put on the outer dress of a simple priest and presently walked beyond the suburb of the Transteverins, whither the Romanche had been watched. He stopped before a certain house, from which issued shouts and the joyous ringing of glasses. He entered, and recognized his man in good company, leaning with his elbow on the table in all the glory of intoxication. "To the health of the good Pope, who treats us to such capital wine!" cried the Amphitryon in a return of consciousness. "It is he who will teach you how to act, he who might send you to prison for having stolen the goods of the poor," said Pius IX. to the terrified and cast down boon companion. "Let this serve as a lesson, and let my indulgence for the present help you to deserve full forgiveness."

The Romans of the present day, like the Romans of other times, are the greatest lovers of art in the world, and especially of the art Terpischorean. The dancing of Fanny Elssler had electrified them so much, that their enthusiasm had produced a subscription of 12,000 francs, which sum they had converted into a crown of gold; this they intended to offer to the object of their idolatry. Nevertheless, they recollected that there was a man at the Quirinal whom they preferred to Fanny Elssler; they went to him and said "Holy Father we desire to give to Fanny Elssler this crown of gold, if it will not be displeasing to your Holmess."

"Give the crown of gold, if that amuses you," replied the good Fius IX. smiling, "only I suggest that your present is not logical." "Wny not, Holy Father !"

"Why, I have supposed hitherto that crowns were made for the head, not for the legs." The Romans gave their crown of gold to Fanny Elssler, but the same day they sent to Pius IX. a thousand crowns for his poor. Not long since, Pius IX. proposed a new reform to his Council. Twenty Cardinals, who were most hostile to the constant disposition of the Holy Father. were present. Twenty black balls were found in the urn was contained the votes. Pius IX, was not disconcertain; taking the white scull-cap from his head and not check me. I shall gain the end I propose for my sion of animal life." Government, for I possess the love of my people. And even if the love of that good people should one day fail me, I shall not be discouraged for still there will remain to me the support of God."

Working a Traverse. - The following is the singular history of Mr. Labouchere, at present a member of the British Cabinet :

In 1822 he was a clerk in the banking house of Mr. Hope, at Amsterdam, and was sent by his patron to Lord Baring, the celebrated banker of London, to negotiate a loan. He displayed in this affair so much ability, that he attracted the attention of the but how could Miss Baring become the wife of a common clerk !" "But," said Mr. Labouchere, "if I were associated with Mr. Hope !"

"Ah, that is very different, and would most materially lessen the inequality between you."

"Mr. L. returned to Amsterdam, and said to his patron, "I must be your partner?"

"My friend! do you think of that? you are without fortune ! and-" "But if I were a member of Lord Baring's fami-

"Indeed! why, in that case I would give you a partnership on the spot !"

On the strength of these two promises, Mr. L. re turned to England, and two months afterwards married Miss Baring, because he had the promise of Mr. Hope to make him partner as soon as he was married to her, and became associated with Mr. Hope because he was married to Miss Baring.

A Horse Trade. - Dear Blade: I saw a horse trade once. All hands were busily making the 'pfs' that sound so odd when a crowd are smoking silendy.

'Hey T'

'Know my bay ?' 'Yes!'

'How'll you trade ?' 'D'know!'

We outsiders watched to see who should come out ahead, for both were open eyed chaps. 'The only fault he ever had was high spirits, and he's getting over that fast,' says Bill.

'Mine aint a bit too mettle some,' says Tom. We saw somebody would suffer by their eyes, and whosoever it was, he was flatted forever, for they had never been in direct collision before. After a short silence, says Bill-'For how many dollars will you swap ?'

We peeled our optics and said nothing, for Bill's was by odds the best horse. 'Five,' says Tom. 'Done,' says Bill.

He had a sure thing of it. After a short silence, "Tom!"

TRAVELLER'S DOOR FASTENER .- Among the varions inventions which have lately been patented, is one termed a traveller's door fastener, which is composed of two small metal plates formed into a wedge by the insertion of a piece of wood between them, while the under plate is fitted with two small spikes that catch the floor. The sharp end of the fastener is thrust under the roor, and the more firmly fixed by every attempt to ehter the room, while a cord carried to the bedside enables a person lying in bed to withdraw the wedge, and thus admit a visiter.

MRS. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS .- Mrs. Adams was born in England on the 11th of February, 1775. She was the daughter of Joshua Johnson, a Maryland gentleman, who went from America to London, where he became eminent as a merchant. During the war be left England for France, where he acted as the commercial agent of this country, and returned upon the ratification of the treaty of peace. Mr. Adams found his future wife at London, when acting under a commission conferred upon him by General Washington, in 1794, for exchanging the ratifications made under married at All Hallows Church, London, on the 26th of June, 1797, and followed her husband to Prussia. where Mr. A. was presented as the first American Minister from the United States. Mrs. Adams conferred honor upon the country at a time when the United States was just recognized as an equal among the nations of the earth. Her next theatre of service was in Washington, and after this again the Court of St. Petersburg, and this from 1809 to 1814, the most exciting, and perhaps the most revolutionary period in the history of Europe, and embracing a part of that interesting period of our own history when the country was at war with England.

Mr. Adams resided longer at St. Petersburg than any one of our American Ministers, excepting Mr. Middleton, and his lady was left their for a brief period, while her husband was called to another field of service. Mrs. A. came alone from St. Petersburg to Paris, after the treaty of peace had been signed by Mr. A. at Ghent. She was at Paris during the most memorable period of Napoleon's supremacy, and passed the world wide "hundred days" at the French metropolis, in the midst of the whirl of excitement incident to the struggle between the Bourbons and the Revolutionists. After a short residence in France, followed by a longer one with her parents in the neighborhood of London, Mrs. Adams came to Washington in 1817, where her husband had been called as a principal member of Mr. Monroe's Cabinet. Eight years as Secretary of State, four in the White House, and fifty-one years the companion of her distinguished husband, Mrs. Adams has seen more of court life, and that in every variety, from the boastful ostentation of royalty to the simplicity of our own republican habits, than perhaps any fiving woman .-Washington Cor. Pittsburgh Gazette.

PROGRESSION IN ANIMAL LIFE .- Professor Agassiz has commenced his interesting lectures in Charleston, S. C., at which a very large audience attended. The system of progression in animal life is explained by him as follows :-

"A system of progression in animal life was apparent from the first creation of the lowest order in the primary strata, fish-to the highest order of existence on the earth, man, where according to the views of the eloquent Professor, progression in animal existence ceases. One illustration of this view was simple and yet curious. He remarked that the first animal creation in the lower strata held a perfectly horizontal position, having no power to elevate the head beyoud the level of the body. The next creation or progression, the fossil remains of which were found in the secondary strata, was an advance in the charlaying it on the urn, he said : "Now, gentlemen, the acter, and also in the bearing of the animal, inasmuch black balls are all white." The measure passed the as it could slightly elevate the head, and so from one black balls are all white." The measure passed the next day. The evening of that day M. Rossi, the step to another, as animal life was more and more a masterly speech from SirRobert Peel in favor of the They examined him and prescribed accordingly. I remained there French Embassador, paid him a visit. The Holy developed, the head was carried more erect, until at bill. Father, visibly moved from the impression produced the last man in his full stature and glory was created, by the scene of the morning, described it to his visit- holding an upright position, and becoming Lord over er, adding : "The opposition I meet with daily will all other creatures, and closing, in fact, the progres-

PUTTING THE QUESTION .- At the time Andrew Jackson and J. Q. Adams were candidates for President, a worthy minister of the Methodist order, took his text one Sunday, the words. 'Who is on the Lord's Side?' After exhorting them with characteristic ardor, he brought the question home to each individual's heart, thus: 'My beloved brethren this is an important question. 'Who is on the Lord's side ?' All those who are on the Lord's side will rise in their seats.' To the surprise of the elder no one rose. With parliamentary propriety he put the opposite question. 'Who is on the Devil's side!' No one rose. At last an honest 'old salt' addressed the exhorter with, 'Please, sir, we all goes here for Kosciusko.-One of the sterling democracy of this whig ridden county writes us as follows: "The democrats are alive here. I have never seen their spirits as good since I have been here, and we will try and redeem this county if it takes twenty years !" That's the talk for democrats. If you are in the minority, in township, county or State, never despair. Your cause is great, good and glorious. The principles you advocate will prevail, because they are founded on truth and justice. They are right and they will be triumphant. Never give up the ship; but if in your neighborhood or county there is hard work to be done, off with your coats and dive into it, and the hosts of old Apollyon, old Zack and old Harry, will never prevail against you .- Goshen Dem.

FATAL APPLICATION OF CHLOROFORM. - An inquest has been held near Newcastle-upon-Tyne, upon the body of a girl, fifteen years of age, named Greener, who died under the influence of Chloroform, administered to allay sensibility while her great toe-nail was being taken off. The jury returned the following verdict: "We are unanimously of opinion that the deceased, Hannah Greener, died from conjection of the lungs, from the effects of Chloroform, and that no blame can be attached to Mr. Megginson, surgeon, or to his assistant, Mr. Lloyd."

A young clerk in New Bedford, recently, to amuse some of his friends, administered chloroform to himself. He immediately became excited, and was attacked with the most violent convulsions, which lasted sixteen hours. During this time it required the combined efforts of five stout men to prevent him from dashing himself to pieces. The convulsions, for the last eight hours that he was under the influence of the chloroform, was so violent, that it was thought impossible that he could recover. After the spasms ceased, he was unable to raise himself in bed.

CHLOROFORM AGAIN .- We find the following paragraph in the New York Tribune : "Miss Nagel, sister-in-law of M. Kohlsaat, of Broadway, was put under the influence of this anæsa tooth; she lay lifeless for several hours, and was established by experience, to be an infalliable remedy carried home in a state of insensibility. She has been since its application-Friday last-laboring under prostration and paralysis of the tongue, throat, the muscles of the throat, and loss of voice.' More Chroroform .- We learn from the Charlestown (Mass.) Aurora, that Andrew W. Oliver, who had his thigh crushed at a stone quarry in Medford, took chloroform, for the purpose of having his limb amputated, and died in about an hour, without recovering his senses after inhaling it. He leaves a mother and sister in Sterling, Illinois.

THE SUB-TREASURY .- Since an independent treasury -cheme went into effect in this city, there has not, as we are authentically informed, been a single instance of the government being defrauded by a forged draft, or false or irregular papers, notwiththat this is the paying office for the greater portion of the United States. Upwards of eighty millions of dollars has passed through the hands of its officers. This indicates the simplicity of the system, and the vigilance and care with which it is administered .-New York Evening Post.

TESTING GOLD .- Much has lately been said in relation to gold coin adulterated by silver, and the difficulty of detecting the adulteration. It requires only a very simple method, one discovered by Archimides, to detect base coin. Take the specific gravity of the coin by weighing it in air, and in water, and deciding the weight of air by the loss of weight in water, and the presence of base metal will appear. Pore hammered gold has a specific gravity of 19 65.100, hammered silver 10 51.100, and hammered copper 8 89.100. This test is infallible.

DISTRESS IN GERMANY .- The Rhenish Observer says: "The chief magistrate of the town of Plessen, in Silesia, has sent us an afflicting report of the condition of the inhabitants. Brother laborer in the cause of Humanity:
Dear Sir—It is with no small degree of pleasure that I am enabled to announce to you the complete triumph of your invaluable medicine in cases of Epilepsy. I have prescribed it in four instances in this vicinity, and it has been successful in all. Three of the patients, I trust, have been radically cured. The fourth is rapidly improving, and will, I think, without doubt recover. I am not in the habit of prescribing or ecommending patent medicines, but when I see an article which promises so much for the relief of suffering humanity, I feel it my duty to recommend it; and I have no hesitation in saying, that as soon as the taculty are fully acquainted with the real merit of your medicine, they will close their eyes against prejudice, and lend you a helping hand. I subscribe myself, yours, sincerely, W. L. MONROE, M. D. To Dr. S. Hart, New York.

EFILEPSY.—This disease is considered by all to be the most dreadful that ever afflicted the human race, as its tendency is to insanity, madness and death. With such fearful results as these, who, among its unhappy subjects does not shudder. The most skifful physicians of Europe as well as those of our own country, have pronounced Epilepsy (or falling sickness as it may be termed) incurable. We are happy Seeing Texas, that it was a lovely land, we coveted our neighbor's goods; seeing the weakness of Mexico, we took it by force. Though a Whig, I do not stand here as a partisan. I shall speak with the freedom of history. I have no sympathy with this late outery against President Polk as bringing on this war. I shall do the President the justice to say, that, in all Mexico, I never heard the first man allege the march thank 3od. I feel that I am a well man. I also feel it my duty to proclaim it to the ends of the earth, that those similarly afflicted, may find

Is it true?—Did a distinguished whig of Kentucky write to Mr. Clay, informing him that Mr. John
J. Crittenden was at the bottom of the Taylor movement in Kentucky? Did Mr. Clay enclose the communication to Mr. Crittenden, with this significant remark: "You know whether this is true or not?"—

We quote the language used by some that are now under treatment, and others who have been cured. One says, "I have suffered beyond me powers of description, but now I rejoice in the prospect of soon being fully restored, as my health of that has much improved." Another who is an eminent lawyer and well known in this city, says, "My son has been afflicted for years with epilepsy, but is now enjoying good health from the Vegetable Extract. Its fame, says he, should and ought to be sounded to the ends of the earth." Another says, "Language is entirely inadequate to express my gratitude to Messrs, Ivans & Hart for having been the means under the blessing of God, of restoring me to the enjoyment of good health after having been afflicted with epilepsy in its worst forms for o ore than 23 years, and my morning epilepsy in its worst forms for o ore than 23 years, and my morning and evening oblations of praise and thanksgiving shall continue to ascend to that God who has afflicted, but to make me whole." We doubt not that the time is not far distant when thousands who are now trem-

The word of the lungs, even when tuburcles-have been formed.

This is enough to convince the public, that it is just the article it is represented to be for curing. We do not say it will ever cure all diseases, but no person that has ever used the Candy for diseases of the Chest and Lungs, will say it done them no good. Circulars containing certificates and connocs of the press concerning the Candy have been tificates and opinions of the press concerning the Candy have been issued, which we respectfully request all persons to read.

We warrant a cure for the above diseases in all cases, and challenge any person in the United States to produce a better, cheaper, and more
